

Jeremiah
Week 4
Chapters 4-7

1. Why is it important to break up the hard ground of our hearts in order for God's word to take root? How do we do that?
2. Why do we seek earnestly to cover up our own sin rather than investing more time seeking to be wise in God's ways?
3. How is living right with God different than trying to avoid sinning? How do we try to appease God with our stuff rather than with ourselves?
4. Why is it important to circumcise our hearts? In what ways can we remove the dead skin (barriers) from our hearts and ears so that we can hear from God and respond to him?
5. Read verse 7:5. How can we tell if true repentance has taken place in someone's life and/or our own life?
6. The Israelites seem to not listen and not get it. Why do we do the same thing in procrastinating about our own sin? What does it take to get us to make the big change in our lives?
