

2 Corinthians 5
March 15, 2017

What does it look like to live longing for your heavenly dwelling? We see death as separation but how is it a new beginning?

How does our fear of God spur us to action and give us courage in our day to day life?

In what ways do you take pride in what is seen vs. unseen? How can you change that?

How does the death of Christ change your perspective on the relationships you have with other people? Does your life reflect that perspective?

As an ambassador of Christ, how do we encourage others to be reconciled to God?

How do you reconcile with God? In what ways does that affect your interactions with others?
